The Omaha weather bureau said the snow fall was the heaviest ever recorded, more than twelve inches falling.

To the south, in Missouri and Kansas the snowfall was not heavy but there was a deluge of rain and sleet.

Places in Kansas were piled high with snow banks. Transcontinental trains running over northern routes were hours late.

Flocks of wild geese, caught in the storm on the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, were driven out over the prairie. The birds

SOUTH GAINS FROM NORTH IN CONTEST

W. E. Evans of Glendale Tells Northern Assemblyman of Record Breaker

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—"Where's Glendale?" was Assemblyman John B. Badaracco's remark when Attorney W. E. Evans was introduced as coming from Glendale, in the opening speech before the assembly reapportionment committee here last night.

San Francisco solons treated the southern delegation with contempt in its appeal for constitutional representation, but it was apparent that this stultifying effort on the part of the Bay City has won strength to a just cause.

"Constitution or no constitution, San Francisco representatives have caucused against reapportionment and we stand united with the cow county degislators to defeat the south," was the text of a deficit by Assemblyman William Hornbower, who charged the 1920 census was inaccurate and concluded his remarks with the threat that San Francisco would soon grow down the peninsula and absorb Los Angeles.

Many Arguments

It was a hectic hearing, featured by able addresses on the part of Attorney Evans, Judge Dana Weller, H. C. Pottenger and Assemblyman Hugh Pomeroy, for the south; and Assemblyman Van Bernard of Butte City, Ernest Dozier of Redding and Charles W. Cleary of Lindsay, the latter trio appealing for consideration of a constitutional amendment which will give control of one house of the legislature to the three large cities.

Chairman Frank Eksward engaged in several clashes with Assemblyman Badaracco, who smiled benignly whenever San Francisco was favorably mentioned.

Learns of Glendale.

He was informed by Attorney Evans that Glendale was the fastest growing residential city in America, according to the 1920 census, who added that the burden of proof in the reapportionment fight lay with those who oppose it.

Hornblower retaliated with the statement that he agreed to the hearing, in order 'that you people from the south could tell us of your beautiful country and say nice things about San Francisco, which we reciprocate."

He valiantly pleaded for a stay of time in the matter of reapportionment.

Russell denied the paternity of his wife's baby, naming E. J. Mayer, a former resident of New York City, co-respondent.

Russell obtained a divorce on the ground of infidelity, a decree nisi being handed down by Justice Hill. The jury exonerated Mayer, but found Mrs. Russell guilty of misconduct with another man whose name was not revealed.

Dry Act Author Seeks Information From Wets' Leader

SACRAMENTO, March 16. "Will it be safe for me to accompany the legislators on their trip to Chinatown and North Beach?

Such was the question put to Assemblyman John B. Badaracco, who admittedly represents the wettest district in the state, by Assemblyman T. M. Wright, of San Jose, while the solons were seeing the sights at the university.

"Sure, I will be your guiding spirit and no harm can come to you if you follow," said the leader of the fight against the dry act.

Wright is now wondering whether it will be the right act to go or not to go.

ACES OF AIR GATHER FOR RODEO

Opening of City's Airport Will Be Marked by Daring Flights

The program for the formal opening of the Glendale airport, that is to be held tomorrow, bristles with thrills from start to finish, according to the advance information that has been allowed to leak out by those who are in charge of the events.

As now planned, the planes that will be here will form over the city at 1 o'clock, when a monster parade will be staged, with the Queen of the Air Rodeo riding in the first plane, and with Earl S. Daugherty pulling off a lot of dare-devil stunts that are guaranteed to stir the blood of even the most blase spectator.

Another thriller that will be shown will be the Bullet Drop by Price Miller, who will leap from a flying plane with a parachute which will have been fixed in such a manner that it cannot open until he pulls the string that holds it together at a height of 500 feet above the earth. Miller drops from a height of about 2000 feet in this manner, shooting earthward with gathering momentum until the spectators are getting ready to run to the point where they expect him to light to collect some souvenirs of the wreck, but just at the right moment he turns the parachute loose and floats gently down to the ground.

Girl Parachutist

Miss Gladys Roy is another parachute jumper who will appear on the program in a drop from 2000 feet, and Tait Box, the man who writes in the sky in letters of smoke, will appear and do his stuff. Box will be welcomed especially by the younger element of the population, as it has been stated that he uses castor oil in a special device to make the stream of smoke that festoons the sky after he has passed, and anyone who uses up all that castor oil is sure of a hand from the kids.

Altitude tests will also be staged, with the flyers rising to a height of several thousand feet, shutting off their motors, and gliding back to earth, and it is rumored that one of the manufacturers whose planes will be competing in the Rodeo is to send a machine out after a record.

The women flyers will have an opportunity to show what they can do in a special sport plane race, and as there are a number of expert female drivers in the game just now this should be of interest to those who favor a more pronounced invasion by women of the fields that have hitherto been regarded as the private pastures of the men folks.

Speed Kings Gather

The St. Patrick's Day race of ten miles for the fastest planes in Southern California is attracting a lot of attention, and already a number of the speed kings of the air have entered and are ready for the starting gun that will send them hurtling through the air at a rate that is expected to pass the 150 mile per hour mark.

An exhibit of ten or twelve foreign planes will be shown at the grounds during the day, to allow for comparison of the American planes with those of European manufacture, while the presence of the army and navy squadrons from San Diego, as already told, insures that Uncle Sam's cracks will be well represented.

The plan is for the city administration to sell to the Legion two acres on the northeast corner of Mountain and Campbell streets for $100—which sum is included solely to make the contract legal.

Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, who is a member of the Legion, brought this subject to the attention of the Council which has decided to submit it to a popular vote.

Legion trustees have endorsed this transaction and are hopeful that it will be approved. They are Emil O. Kiefer of 511 East Wilson avenue; Robert C. Plume of 322 Burchett street; and Attorney Eugene Wix of 111 East Broadway.

PLAN 14 NEW TRAINS FOR SERVICE TO THIS CITY

Seven Minute Schedule in Rush Hours, Promise of Railway Company

THE PACIFIC ELECTRIC expects to put into effect a fifteen minute schedule between Los Angeles and Glendale about the first of April.

Announcement to this effect was made this morning by O. A. Smith, passenger traffic manager for the Pacific Electric. The announcement was also made at the City Council meeting last night.

"I can't say exactly when this schedule will go into effect," he remarked, "but I think it will be about the first of the month."

Increased service for the rush hours is contemplated, also, according to Mr. Smith. He stated that this meant about seven, eight and nine minute service between 7 and 8:30 p. m., and about seven minute service between 4:30 and 6 p. m. Each train during these periods will consist of three cars.

Present rush hour schedule is about eight minutes for three car trains. Mr. Smith stated that the morning traffic is much easier to handle than the late afternoon traffic because the rush is staggered out more while at 5 o'clock and 5:30 p. m. everybody who lives in Glendale and works in Los Angeles, is in a hurry to get home.

More for Burbank

Burbank service will be increased also. It is planned to run every other train from Los Angeles through to Burbank. This will provide thirty minute service. There will be additional provisions for the rush hour.

Connections will continue to be made with the East Broadway line. Every train to and from Los Angeles will either send one car over this branch or make connections at Brand boulevard and Broadway.

Discovery of a bottle that had contained chloroform and the fact that several pieces of valuable jewelry were missing from the apartment gave rise to a robbery theory.

When the body was discovered, clad in night clothes and lying across a bed, it was first supposed that death was due to natural causes.

The girl's two escorts were young and well dressed, according to the elevator operator at the house. He said he could not recognize them. One of the men left the apartment in forty-five minutes. He did not see the other one leave.

WINSTED, Conn., March 16.—When Governor C. A. Templeton announced he would spend 10 days in the White Mountains to indulge in Winter sports, residents here promptly sent him an invitation to come to this, the highest point in Connecticut. Backing their claim to real Winter weather, Winsted people point out 110 inches of snow since Winter started, making a record, and called attention to doctors making professional calls on skis and snowshoes; railroad trains stalled in 100-foot drifts and then buried completely by additional snowfall; outlying sections where no vehicle has moved for 3 months, and wild animals entering the heart of the village seeking food. Governor Templeton has gone to the White Mountains.

The music was furnished by the jazz orchestra from the United Artisans, Los Angeles Assembly No. 236. During intermission, H. Harris, state organizer gave an interesting and humorous talk which was greatly enjoyed by all.

This was the first social affair given by the Glendale Assembly, and as it proved to be so successful they are planning on giving many more social activities for their members and friends.

Thursday Club

As a result of the appealing and inspiring talk by Mrs. Albert Crutcher, president of the Children's Hospital society, the women of the Thursday Afternoon club at the meeting held yesterday at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, 1243 South Brand boulevard, pledged themselves to take the initial steps to organize an auxiliary in Glendale to assist in the work of this wonderful institution.

To this end a meeting has been called at Mrs. A. L. Bancroft's home Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock to which all interested are invited.

The business session which preceded this heart-stirring appeal, was presided over by Mrs. W. C. Mabry, president of the club. Miss Eva Daniels, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and of the open forum. The minutes of two preceding board meetings were also read and approved. The board reported that the name Tropico Library Association, under which the articles of incorporation were issued had been changed to the Thursday Afternoon Club by the necessary application and fees to the secretary of state.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell was appointed delegate to the state convention of the California Federated Women's Clubs which meets at San Luis Obispo in May. Mrs. Brown was appointed custodian. Mrs. Bond was appointed chairman of the courtesy committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Peters and Mrs. McDougal.

Mrs. Mabry reported the pleasant day Mrs. Roy Bancroft and she enjoyed at the Sawtelle club's reciprocity day. Mrs. Mabry also attended the reciprocity day of the Arcadia Women's Club.

A motion that the Thursday Afternoon Club arrange for a reciprocity day was carried. A meeting of the ways and means committee, Mrs. E. V. Bacon, first vice president, chairman, was called for 4 o'clock Monday, March 19, at Mrs. Roy F. Bancroft's home, 121 West Eulalia street.

A card party was announced for St. Patrick's day, March 17, at 8 o'clock, Mrs. J. L. Wilbur and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, joint hostesses, at the home of the former, 321 West Cypress. An Easter tea and card party has been planned for Wednesday, April 4, from 2 to 5 o'clock by Mrs. Roy Bancroft, Mrs. McNaughton, Mrs. James Cunningham and Mrs. F. A. Archer, at the home of Mrs. Roy Bancroft, 121 West Eulalia street for the benefit of the club building fund.

The president announced that at the next open forum a straw vote for officers for next year would be taken. Mrs. J. M. Server, chairman of the membership committee, spoke on increasing the membership.

Mrs. Kemper Campbell, second vice president, in a few appreciative words, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Albert Crutcher, who has been president of the Children's Hospital society for the past fourteen years. Mrs. Crutcher told of the work accomplished and the plans for the future. The hospital is non-sectarian, no restrictions as to color or creed. It is supported by voluntary contributions. It has no bills, although the monthly bills are over $10,000. No child sits on the door step, except for lack of beds, was the emphatic assertion of Mrs. Crutcher. The doctors give their services. The patients pay if able but last year 87 per cent were on the free list. There are no paid employes except the nurses and an executive secretary.

A contagious ward, the gift of Mrs. Doheny and Mrs. Garland, was erected at a cost of $30,000 last year. There is a crying need for an orthoepedic wing.

Mrs. John C. Griffith of Los Angeles, who describes herself as a friend of the hospital, spoke of the needs of the hospital and of the work of the salvage department which averages $600 per month and asked contributions to that as well as nightgowns, slipon sweaters, bed linen and other things for the little patients, who are all under 12 years of age.

During the social hour plans were formulated for the organization of an auxiliary in Glendale which would include not only club members but all Glendale. Tea was served by Miss Eva Daniels, Miss Orff, Mrs. L. C. Rice, Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, Mrs. Becker, Mrs. Server and Mrs. Archer.

SEEK CAMP SITE FOR BOY SCOUTS

Rotary Club Talks Over Plans to Get Behind Juvenile Project

The project of securing the Haynes Canyon camp site as a permanent grounds for the Boy Scouts and other juvenile organizations in this district, was the chief topic of discussion at yesterday's weekly luncheon of the Glendale Rotary club, held in the auditorium of the Citizens' building.

A. R. Eastman, president of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scouts council, stated the purchase price of the eighty acres comprising the site to be $10,000, with a down-payment of $2500. He explained that quick action in the matter would be necessary, as they had the project under consideration on an option that must be taken up or let go in the very near future.

F. R. Harris, of the Pasadena Rotary club, spoke in favor of the project, offering as an example the manner in which his chapter had acquired Huntington camp for the boys of their city, at a cost greatly in excess of that asked for the Haynes Canyon site. He mentioned numerous ways in which money could be raised for such a purpose.

Tour of Inspection

Francis J. W. Henry suggested that the Glendale Rotary club underwrite the proposition, and proposed that as many members as possible make a trip to the camp for the purpose of looking it over.

Sixteen members signified their willingness to make the trip, as a prelude to the working out of a plan to secure this site for the boys of the district, and the date set for the trip was Monday, March 19, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, from the offices of the Henry-Brown company, 602 East Wilson avenue.

In further reference to the young folks and their interests, Chairman Owen C. Emery of the local boys' work committee announced that the week of April 29 to May 5, inclusive, has been set aside by the boys' work committee of International Rotary as a week of special juvenile observation, with a suggested program as follows:

Sunday, April 29, "Boys' day in the churches;" Monday, April 30, "Boys' day in the schools;" Tuesday, May 1, "Boys' loyalty day and parade"; Wednesday, May 2, "Entertainments and athletics"; Thursday, May 3, "Industry"; Friday, May 4, "Home"; and Saturday, May 5, "Out-of-doors".

It was announced that the local boys' work committee will meet next Tuesday night, March 20, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of President Roy L. Kent of the Glendale Rotary club.

Postal Service

The matter of curtailment of postal service in this city also came in for considerable discussion at yesterday's session, it being brought out that the present cut of six clerks will be extended April 1 to a degree that will utterly cripple service, unless something can be done to relieve the situation between now and then.

Daniel Kelty, Jr., brought out that we would soon be facing one home delivery a day instead of two, and two business deliveries instead of three, and worse, as the current federal appropriation is reported practically exhausted and the new appropriation is not available until July 1.

The club voted to dispatch a telegram to Congressman Lineberger at Washington, putting Glendale's situation and attitude squarely up to him, and demanding action.

Announcement was made of the big "Air Rodeo" at Glendale Airport Saturday afternoon, March 17. In this connection the George A. Montgomery injunction proceedings were condemned, it being pointed out that should this action gain an anti-Glendale decision, this city would suffer gravely, as its prestige as an aviation center is coming to be known far and wide.

To Select Officers

Numerous announcements and acknowledgments were read by the club's secretary, J. Herbert Smith, among the latter a message of gratitude from the stricken city of Astoria, Oregon, thanking the local Rotarians for their $50 contribution to the relief fund.

Announcement was made of the first annual conference of the second district of California Rotary clubs, to be held in Pasadena, April 5, 6, and 7.

As nominations for next year's officers will be in order at next Thursday's meeting, President Kent named a nominating committee comprising C. C. Cooper, George U. Moyse and George H. Bentley.

The following ten visiting Rotarians were guests at the luncheon yesterday: J. E. Brown, Edmonton, Canada; G. W. Byers, Champaign, Ill.; Herbert Smith, Jacksonville, Ill.; Mitchel Harris, Olympia, Wash.; Herbert Riead, (correct), Muskogee, Okla.; Fred R. Harris and A. B. Wallaber, of Pasadena; and Edward S. Merrilll, James Shelton and D. H. Fry of Los Angeles.

CHANGE NAME OF ART ASSOCIATION

'La Ramada' Too Costly for Organization to Take Over at Present

The Casa Verdugo Park & Art association has been re-named the Glendale Art association, and meetings will henceforth be held at the public library, Harvard and Kenwood, on alternate Sunday afternoons.

The first meeting at the association's new headquarters will be this Sunday afternoon, March 18 from 3 until 5 o'clock.

Such was the decision reached last night at a meeting of the association with its president, Mrs Roy A. Ballagh, 202 West Doran street, it being the consensus of opinion that under the circumstances "La Ramada" was too costly a home for them to attempt to secure.

As the library has donated a special large room to the Glendale Art association, where continuous exhibits will be hung, it is felt that this is a far better arrangement for the present.

Meet on Sunday

The opening address will be delivered at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, by L. T. Rowley, who will explain in detail the association's plans for the future.

John W. Cotton, the etcher, will talk, as will H. C. Swartz, the sculptor, and Mrs. Krasnow, wife of Peter Krasnow, the painter.

Paintings by J. L. Schultz, Barton Manbert and Peter Krasnow, together with a number of John W. Cotton's fine aqua-tones, will be on exhibit.

This being the first gathering in the association's new home, a large attendance is desired, it being particularly urged that the children be brought.

POSTPONE CIVICS CLUB'S MEETING

Annexation Question Stirs Interest of Citizens of Eagle Rock

EAGLE ROCK, March 16.—Mrs. S. M. Runge, chairman of the program committee of the Sunrise Civics club, announces that on account of the great interest taken in the annexation question and the desire of all to attend the various mass meetings, the regular monthly meeting, on March 20, will be postponed until some time in April.

Mrs. Frank P. Richardson and Miss Grace Sherwood were the hostesses to a very delightful St. Patrick's luncheon on Wednesday at their home, 249 Royal Drive. The decorations were of St. Patrick's own colors and the favors and ices carried out the same motif very cleverly. Irish songs entertained the guests later.

L. C. Freeman, of Hill street was called east by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his father. He left Friday for New York.

Mrs. P. J. Zeh, Jr., of Los Angeles, was in Eagle Rock yesterday completing arrangements for the purchase of a hill-side lot for a homesite. Mr. Zeh is Los Angeles manager for the Fuller Brush company and they will erect a house on their lot as soon as possible.

Additional Service By American Express

The American Railway Express company has increased its service to Glendale by adding another car, which will reach this city at 8:40 o'clock in the morning, announces H. L. Legrand, agent.

The previous service has been changed from 11:40 o'clock in the morning to 4:10 o'clock in the afternoon.

This now gives Glendale a two-car daily service.

Blame Hospital Fire On Anti-Catholics

MONTREAL, March 16.—Suspected incendiarism destroyed its seventeenth Catholic structure within a year when the Notre Dame De Grasa, a Catholic hospital for incurables, went up in flames last night. Heroic nurses and attendants saved the patients. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

PLACE BLAME OF POSTOFFICE CUT

Official Declares Experts of Department Failed to Secure Funds

Responsibility for the curtailment of the number of employes in the United States postal service, which is affecting not only Glendale but practically every other city of importance in the country, is placed squarely on the experts of the postoffice in a telegram received yesterday by Charles F. Newton president of the local branch of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks.

The telegram comes from Thos. F. Flaherty secretary and treasurer of the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, and reads as follows:

"Deficiency appropriation insufficient. Department experts at fault underestimating service fiscal needs. Curtailments everywhere. Extra session of congress appears to be only recourse."

The six auxiliary clerks were laid off at the Glendale postoffice yesterday and the stamp and money order departments are being handled by one clerk, while the remaining members of the staff are trying to cope with the extra work entailed by the dismissal of the extra hands.

U. OF C. IS HOST TO LEGISLATORS

Richardson Leads Solons on Inspection Tour of State University

BERKELEY, March 16.—The state legislature received a University education today.

Headed by Governor Friend W. Richardson, the entire state legislature, some 200 strong with their wives, arrived today to pay their biennial inspection visit to the University of California and study conditions as they exist on the campus.

Arriving at 10:40, the legislators were conducted to Harmon hall where several of the lawmakers addressed a student meeting presided over by President Barrows. The speakers included Esto B. Broughton, Lieutenant-Governor C. C. Young, Senator T. C. West, Assemblyman W. E. Badhan and Senator E. J. Gates. Following this meeting the legislators reviewed the R. O. T. C. at a special drill.

Following lunch at the new Stephens Union, the building was inspected and the legislators taken on a tour of the campus. All the buildings of importance were inspected, including the new stadium, the Greek theatre and California field.

Dedication of the Stephens Union building at 5 o'clock this evening rounded out the day on the campus, following which the activities were to be transferred across the bay to the Palace hotel, San Francisco, where the legislators will be entertained at a banquet.

Hen Roosts in Hall Of Egg Laying Fame

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—"Red," the prize Rhode Island red hen of four-year-old Lee Starkey, Jr., today clucked her way into fame by laying two full-sized eggs within a period of 15 minutes. The young owner with his mother and two neighbors verified "Red's" record-breaking feat, and reported "Red" is anything but "snobbish" over the honor that has suddenly befallen her.

BOND ISSUE IS CARRIED BY 53

Small Vote Is Cast in Yesterday's Election on Project Of City Schools

that, on the whole, it is a very good expression of confidence in the Board of Education.

Although this bond issue did not carry by nearly as large a margin as the last grammar school bond election for $260,000, Mr. White believes that the fact that this bond issue is for almost twice that amount and the fact that several high school bond issues have intervened had some effect upon yesterday's election.

There was considerable comment today upon the light vote cast, especially in view of the importance of the election. Considerable significance is being attached by some to the small vote.

Board Meets Thursday

Results of the election yesterday will be announced officially by the Board of Education at 1 o'clock Thursday. At this time, state law requires that the board should meet to canvass the votes and put the official seal of approval upon the records.

According to Mr. White, money from the sale of the bonds cannot be available for at least sixty days. He stated that architects probably would be engaged meanwhile and plans prepared so as to be in readiness to proceed with the awarding of contracts as soon as possible. He expressed the opinion that most of the work provided for in the budget will be ready by the opening of the fall term.

Although the Board of Education has agreements containing promises that property owners will sell property desired by the school district, Mr. White, stated that the law would not permit the Board of Education to pay any binding fee on options.

Election officials yesterday, who were kept especially busy after 4:30 p. M. until the votes were counted, were as follows:

Glendale Avenue Intermediate school—Stillman E. Chase, 1239 South Maryland avenue, inspector; Miss Dura N. Hibben of 123 East Laurel street and Mrs. Parl L. Moore of 1259 South Maryland avenue, judges.

Wilson Avenue Intermediate school—Thomas W. Wright of 141 north Louise street, inspector; Mrs. Mabel A. Horner of 432 West Broadway and Mrs. Edna Mead Brown of 638 North Howard street, judges.

Central Avenue school—L. H. Thompson of 1231 North Brand boulevard, inspector; Mrs. Carrie E. Taylor of 409 Burchett street and Mrs. Myrtle Buckman of 1141 Winchester street, judges.

Widow of Civil War Vet Gets Pension

Glendale has a guardian angel for widows of Civil war veterans in the person of Mrs. Priscilla Houdeyshel of 308 North Orange street, who has successfully assisted countless widows in securing their pensions from the government.

For over a year Mrs. Houdeyshel has been working on the pension claim of Mrs. Mary A. Robinson of Eagle Rock and this morning a telegram from Washington, D. C., announced that the pension has been granted. Mrs. Robinson, whose husband died a year and a half ago, is very old and in need of the government aid and her many friends will be pleased to learn that she is to have the pension.

FASTER SERVICE ON P. E. SYSTEM

New Schedule Is Now Being Worked Out for Line, Is Announced

new schedule was emphasized by Mr. Smith. He commented on the fact that, after the time table has been arranged, considerable work is necessary to distribute the runs among the train crews. For this reason he is unable to state definitely just when the new schedule will go into effect.

Fourteen Extra Trains

The additional service will require about fourteen extra trains each way. It will call for the employment on this line of about four additional train crews or about twelve men.

"Up until the first of February the traffic on the Glendale line was about same as last year," asserted Mr. Smith. "Since the first of February it has been increasing greatly. That occasioned this new schedule. Of course, it will be permanent. The Pacific Electric would not consider making the change as a temporary matter."

About ten minutes will be cut from the Los Angeles-Glendale running time by the new tunnel, according to Mr. Smith. He said that this improvement would mean more than that economy of time during the evening rush hour because of the avoidance of the traffic congestion on Sixth street in Los Angeles.

Jammed in Traffic

"At the present time," he remarked, "it is almost impossible to run the trains along Sixth street during this rush hour on any schedule at all. One train goes through all right and then the next one may be tied up in a traffic jam. Of course, this throws the rest of the trains off their schedule."

Contracts for the construction of this tunnel, in the opinion of Mr. Smith, will be let early in April. He stated that actual work probably would be commenced in about sixty days. He said that the contracts provide that the work must be completed within ten months. He added that this means that the tunnel should be in actual use about a year from this time.

Bus Line Service

Representatives of the Pacific Electric company appeared before the City Council last night and asked for a hearing on its proposed bus line service in the northwest section.

The council was told the railway was preparing a new schedule.

"What's that? A new schedule? Can it be a new schedule—of lower rates?" asked Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson. He was informed that it was a new time schedule.

The council set the bus line hearing for next Tuesday night.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

KNOWING WHAT YOU DON'T WANT

One of the big things in life, as I reminded you the other day, is to know what you want and to go after it instead of waiting for it to come and get you.

Another of the big things of life, and less commonly recognized, I think, is to know the things you don't want and to keep away from them instead of passively allowing them to be thrust upon you.

The sort of things I particularly mean are pleasures (so called) in which many people spend their time not because they really enjoy them but because other people enjoy them (or think they do); because they have never stopped to analyze their feelings and see whether they were really enjoying themselves or not.

A Baby Carriage

A man I know, who used to spend many of his Sunday afternoons being driven around the country by his auto owning friends when automobiles were not so common as they are now, suddenly struck. "Sunday is my day off," he said, "I would rather lie out under the trees with a good book or play hide and seek with the youngsters Sunday afternoon than anything I know. I have been accepting these invitations because it is supposed to be a privilege to ride in an auto but when I come right down to it I'd about as lieve be wheeled around in a baby carriage. My wife can go if she wants to, but I am going to stay home and enjoy myself. I haven't got but one life to lead and I'm not going to spend it doing the things other people enjoy, but the things I enjoy.

She Stopped Playing

Another friend of mine, a woman, had gotten into the habit of playing bridge a great deal. She was invited to many parties and went because she never thought of doing otherwise. One evening a party she had expected to attend was called off and she spent the evening at home before the fire with a book. Finding what a relief and a pleasure that was she became conscious of the fact that she did not care so much for cards as she once had and had just gone on playing so much because she thought she was enjoying herself, not because she really was.

It is inevitable that one should sacrifice some of the things one wants to do because of economic duties and because of the claims of other lives.

But one does not need to sacrifice one's precious leisure moments to the Moloch of being and doing just like other people.

Husbands and Wives

Of course there is a certain factor in this situation that sometimes makes complications. And that is the desire of a husband or wife to have the other party enjoy his pleasures. She wants him to go automobiling because she likes it and he wants her to play cards because he enjoys it. Yet he hates automobiling and she hates cards. What's the answer in that case? Are they to go their separate ways? Isn't that dangerous? No more than the sense of irritability and lost enjoyment that either has when forced to do things he or she doesn't enjoy.

It seems to me as if two people would do well not to marry unless they do enjoy some of the same diversions. Let them enjoy these diversions together and let them each enjoy alone the things the other does not care for, and suffer the other to do the same. I think they will keep on a better footing that way than if the wife is constantly trying to make her husband do things he doesn't want to do.

Of course the husband who really loves his wife will do the things she enjoys sometimes of his own accord but the wise wife will not force him or nag him.

Tomorrow—The Comely Woman.

STYLES DON'T IRK BRITISH SOLONS

Weird Sartorial Ensemble Startles Adherents of Manly Fashions

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, March 16.—"Clothes don't make the man" runs the old adage, and as one looks over the British statesmen on the front benches of the House of Commons and the House of Lords the old proverb seems to prove itself.

Just as the United States house of representatives and senate are a sartorial hodge-podge, so are the British legislative chambers.

Lloyd George seems to dote on baggy trousers. There is something about his clothes that denotes force—force that almost breaks the buttons.

Law's Garb Varied

Bonar Law has a wide choice of wardrobe, but he doesn't seem to know where he is; for his clothes, though always neat, would never be copied by the "Burlington Berties of Monocle Row." He has no choice in hats and, like Winston Churchill, has a wide variety; sometimes he wears a soft felt, sometimes a derby and frequently a silk hat.

Sir Robert Horne is a bachelor, and mayhap that is why he is the best-dressed man in Commons.

His clothes always fit, and he always wears the right thing. You would never catch Sir Robert wearing a derby hat with a dinner jacket.

Lord Birkenhead is one of those lucky persons who always look the picture of fashion, no matter what they wear. Lord Birkenhead can wear a tweed suit into the dining room of the Savoy Hotel and get away with it, or he can show up for a political conference in riding breeches and yet cause no clamor. He wears his clothes so well that he ought to be in the "movies."

Lord Salisbury has made the raglan overcoat popular. He is the best-dressed member of that historic Cecil family and has a good bit of what the Britishers call "swank."

Fine Assortment

Over on the labor benches one sees a wide variety of habiliment. J. H. Thomas affects the small black tie that slips on over the collar button by a patent process. J. R. Clynes glories in pompadour hair and waxed mustache, which detract all attention from his clothes. Ben Tillet, the most voluble of all the laborites, is reported to have been seen wearing white spats—no, not in his own constituency.

Lord Gladstone studies comfort, and apparently his idea of comfort is room.

The Earl of Balfour always appears neat, but he hardly has what might be called dash. He displays more neck than a debutante and must have to muffle up well these cold winter days. But he has been wearing those frank, open-faced collars that lie low on the shoulder blades for well over a century now.

Herbert Asquith wears his clothes as though under the direction of Margot. There is no consistency about his dress.

There are sartorial bright spots here and there in the British legislative chambers, but not enough to startle Beau Brummel.

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

WELL PROTECTED HANDS

Housewives write to me and say they simply cannot keep their hands good looking. They can, though, of course, they are not apt to attain that delicate whiteness possible for a woman of leisure. They have everything against them, particularly the women who do all their own work, and yet they can if they choose, possess hands that show little or no trace of domestic work.

The first, and in my opinion, the most important measure is a preventive one. The housewife need not do her dishes three times a day, she can scrape off and pile the dinner things neatly, shut her kitchen door upon them and calmly enjoy the whole of her evening. It will not take much longer to do them next morning than it would to do merely breakfast things. But whether she does this or no, she should never put her hands into dish water without first pulling on long rubber gloves. And whenever possible she should use a wooden handled mop and a wire drainer so dishes can be scalded instead of wiped. Rubber gloves and long handled mops can also be used for scrubbing. Sweeping and dusting should be done with canvas gloves on so that if the hands are not entirely protected during the working part of the day, they are at least protected to make their beautifying an easier task.

When the worst of the work is over the hands should be scrubbed with soap, warm water and a brush, rubbed with a bit of lemon to remove stains and rinsed. If the day's work has made them dry they should be rubbed with pure lard or cold cream and thrust for a few moments into old leather gloves kept for the purpose, then they can be washed free of grease and the nails cleaned and polished, for the hands by this time will be quite good looking. Otherwise any one of the good hand lotions on the market can be used to keep the skin soft.

S. H. P.—To get rid of the ingrown nail always trim it so the nail is shorter in the center than at the sides. Lift the points on either side of the nail and place a tiny piece of absorbent cotton under each. Wear a loose shoe until the nail improves.

Anxious.—Try an application of flour of sulphur on the pimples and if they are not the result of internal troubles this should heal them. The hair tonic which is often recommended in this column will rid your scalp of the dandruff, beside helping it in every other way. I shall be glad to mail you the formula for it if you wish it and send a s. a. e.

J. D. A.—The above suggestion about the hair applies also to your case.

Tomorrow—Beauty Chat For Men.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

ARTIST DONATES PICTURE TO CLUB

Noted Clubwoman Expresses Praise of Painter in Critique of Work

Although the reception room at the new Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse has a south and west exposure, nevertheless it provides one charming glimpse of the Green Verdugo Hills, for on the east wall is hung an oil painting, the work and gift of F. Grayson Sayre and bearing the title, "A Quiet Nook in the Green Verdugo Hills."

Mrs. Marguerite G. Turck, well known club member of La Crescenta, has paid the following tribute to Mr. Sayre:

"The unique character, as well as the beauty and charm of his work, have won for him the praise and recognition of the most exacting art critics, and it is quite generally conceded that he is unequaled in his portrayal of the living, ever changing color of the desert, or the enchanting lure of the Monte Vista and the Verdugo hills, La Canada, La Crescenta, Tujunga and other Southern California beauty spots. Dazzling in a seeming riot of color, his studies reflect the peculiar beauty that is found only in these vast and lonely stretches where the misty clouds float above purple canyons or rest against the blur of snow-capped distant ranges.

"He has felt the call of the desert and few artists have so sympathetically responded to this call as has Mr. Sayre, who has given to us many vivid color impressions of both mountain and desert scenery. Far from the haunts of men he gives himself over to the spell of the all-pervading silence, and, because of his sincere desire to convey to the world some hint of the uplifting beauty of the 'hills from whence cometh our strength' and soul satisfying peace of the valleys, is it not possible that nature may have confided to him some of her most precious secrets?

Conveys Message

"The principal quality for which Mr. Sayre strives is that each picture should convey a message, for, after all, it is only the message in the painting that lives. Life means to him a never-ending search for new beauties, and in his pictures there is always a rift in the hills, a path through the sagebrush, or a trail over the mountain, creating in the observer a desire to search for other hidden beauties just beyond. From an academic point of view his work and execution are excellent, and in addition to this he has supplemented a new technique, for he uses both the transparent and opaque water color, laying in the local tones with the transparent color and almost completing the work as far as most artists go; after which, with sure touch and unerring tones he adds the most delicate touches of opaque, and the result is something as nearly approaching the vibration of the western light as it is possible to obtain.

"I congratulate the club upon having added this gem to its fine collection, and I know that I voice the sentiment of the entire membership in expressing my sincere appreciation of the great generosity of the artist."

The following directions for a doll's knitted sweater are continued from yesterday (if you failed to see yesterday's paper, and wish the first part of these directions, buy a back copy of the paper. I personally do not keep reprints of my articles.)

Seventh Row of Doll's Sweater: Knit plain. Row 8; P. repeat 7th and 8th rows alternately until you have made two inches, to the underarm then cast on six sts. on each side, starting the sleeves.

Next Row: P. Next Row: Cast on six sts. on each side, K. Next Row: P. Next Row: Cast on 4 Row: P. Next Row: Cast on 6 sts on each side, K. Next Row: P. Next Row: Cast on 4 sts. on each side. K, completing the length of the sleeves. Continue K. across, P. back for about three-quarters of an inch, to the back of the neck.

Next Row: K 33, slip these onto an extra needle, bind off six sts., K. 33 on these 33 sts. K. across and P. back for the front half of the sleeve, keeping the front line straight. Then decrease as you increased until the sleeve is finished.

Next Row: Cast on three sts. for underarm, making 14 sts. on the needle. Continue measuring the length with the back, repeat the border, bind off, using the other 33 sts. Repeat for the opposite front. Sew up the seams.

For the Tuxedo collar, of two threads of cream (if you wish, otherwise use just the rose-color of which the entire sweater is made) cast on ten sts., K. plain for the length required. Sew to the sweater so it lays flat and rolls smoothly around the neck.

For the girdle, of the rose, cast on 100 sts. First Row: K. plain. Second Row of Girdle: P., repeat first and second rows alternately until you have completed the sixth row, then bind off. This coils to form a round girdle. A two and one-half inch long tassel finishes each end. This sweater fits a doll ten inches high—unless the doll is of unusual proportions. (I will publish directions for a "tam" for this size doll next Thursday. Women who don't know what to make for a church fair would do well to make this doll's sweater and tam set; they sell "like hot cakes." And I should think they would sell at a Woman's Exchange just as well. Why don't some of you women who want to earn pin-money try it?)

Enlarges Quarters of Local Awning Factory

W. T. Gilliam of 210 East Broadway, who manufactures spear awnings for Spanish bungalows, is wearing the "smile that won't come off."

Although his business has been established only two months, already it has expanded to such an extent that he has been obliged to obtain quarters in the rear of his office which he is converting into a larger awning factory. He now employes two women as canvas seamstresses and expects to hire three more before the first of the month. As soon as the camping season gets under way, Mr. Gilliam expects to be swamped with orders for made-to-measure tents. He is confident that he will have to increase his payroll from $100 to $200 a week before the end of the summer.

Mr. Gilliam attributes his success to the fact that he has had ten years of experience with a large Kansas City firm in this line and understands the business thoroughly. He also gives the credit to the advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

SPIRITUALITY VS MATERIALITY

I, I, I: I, MYSELF; I
THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME
CHAPTER XLVIII
Kisses

You know my Uncle Louie, the dandy man I told you was the husband of my Aunt Sue? Well, he isn't my uncle at all! He told me he was my uncle because he expected to be. As he will be soon, I shall continue to call him Uncle.

You know my Aunt Sue. You remember how efficient (I used to think it was bossy) she is, and how much she adores me although she doesn't always defer to my opinions. Well, I have noticed of late that Uncle Louie has not been to see me and when Aunt Sue comes she has been very subdued and not so merry as usual.

Sometimes when she has taken me up she has held me to her so hard that it almost hurt. And once I saw two big tears creep out from under her closed lids. "Sockie," she whispered, "Sockie, dearest, I can't stand it."

I could not understand what it was she could not stand nor why she should cry. She did not look hungry.

Yesterday the mystery was cleared up. Aunt Sue came to call on me. It was at the hour when I dine from my one bottle. So she took me in her nice arms and did me the honor of giving it to me. I heard Mama say, "She is in the nursery"—a slip of the tongue, for I am not a she. And in walked Uncle Louie.

Gee, Aunt Sue was so startled she nearly dropped me. Funny. Uncle Louie did not say a word. He was so glad to see me that he dropped on his knees in front of us and put his arms around me. Of course, he had to include Aunt Sue, too. And then he kissed me on the cheek, fervently.

"Louis Wilson! You must not kiss Sockums! Don't you know that you should never kiss babies? If you have to kiss some one, kiss me. I'll take a chance." Funny.

Migee! I nearly smothered before he stopped kissing her. Luckily my dinner was finished and Aunt Sue put me in safety in my crib. Uncle helped her to carry me. He did not seem to want to let me go.

As soon as I was down, Aunt Sue, the efficient, was in Uncle's arms and crying soft like.. Not at all the way I yell when anything goes wrong with me.

Soon, however, she was merry again and she laughed happily when Uncle Louie said, "Sockums old boy, you darling, you saved my life." Funny!

Well, whatever the trouble was, it is all gone now. And all through me. Isn't that nice? I am so happy.

I could not understand that kiss problem. Why could he kiss Aunt sue a million times on her mouth with no objections on her part at all, and why should she object to his kissing me on the cheek? I know now. (You must not ask how such a little chap as I am knows so much. You must take it for granted that we babies know everything. I cannot always be saying, Doctor says this and Doctor told me that. You will know that all my medical knowledge I get from her and I shall pass a lot of it on to you, my dear mamas, for Doctor tells me you all love me and my story. She says so many of you are writing her about me that it makes her very happy. It sure does me too. We are going to get all of the chapters together for you after a while. Won't that be nice?)

Well, to get back to kissing. We must be kissed by our loved ones. That is understood. It would be inhuman to prevent our dearests from that joy. But we must not be kissed except on the head or back of the neck or some other place inaccessible to our hands. For this reason—while you, our dearests, may be perfectly healthy, you may be carrying some little microscopic plants called germs that may cause trouble to us even though they don't to you. And the reason you must kiss us where we will not rub our hands is because we so often put our hands to our mouths.

Of course, everybody knows that we should not be kissed on the mouth, ever, ever, by anyone! Not even our beloved mamas and daddies and grammies.

Goodness, I'm glad I have my Uncle Louie back. Au Revoir.

Declares Small Fines Fail to Reduce Vice

CHICAGO, March 15.—Judges must co-operate with the police for the most effective method of suppressing crime and vice, Samuel P. Thrasher, chairman of a Committee of Fifteen, investigating vice in Chicago, told a grand jury.

"Jail sentences and not the customary small fines will do the work," said Thrasher. "The average fine paid by women taken in vice raids is three dollars. Such a fine can have no salutary effect.

"The men who live off the proceeds of these women can easily pay these fines, but they cannot serve their jail sentences. If all the courts and juries would start imposing jail sentences vice would be reduced appreciably."

Just Naturally Had to Have Sake, Fined $50

HONOLULU, March 16.—Totokichi Fukuda admitted to Judge John T. DeBolt, in the United States District Court here that he had in his possession a quantity of sake, the national drink of Japan. Fukuda admitted more.

"I was raised on sake," he told Judge DeBolt. "Without it I am unable to exist. My health has been impaired for a long time, and when I don't drink I become ill and cannot work. To go without sake would be the shortening of my life, and I don't believe that I have long to live, anyway."

Judge DeBolt agreed that it was, indeed, too bad and then fined Fukuda $50.

SENATORS CLAIM BILL IS MENACE

Measure Would Jeopardize Property of Wife, Opponents Aver

Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—Senator Jones' Community Property bill provided a subject for sharp debate in the senate, the general consensus of opinion being that, as now worded, the measure would jeopardize a wife's property.

Particular exception was taken by Senators A. B. Johnson, Harry Chamberlin, F. A. Arbuckle, Thomas Ingram and A. H. Breed, who want a wife's responsibility in signing notes eliminated.

In reporting the work of the joint oil land investigating committee which visited Norwalk state hospital during the recess, Senator E. J. Gates yesterday recommended that the general law be changed to give authority to state officials to lease any state owned oil lands to the highest bidder. A bill to this effect will be presented.

Members of the state board of control were inclined to discount the prospects of about $7,000,000 additional revenue accruing from the payment of corporation taxes under the King bill during the next biennium, as predicted on the decision in the Pullman case.

Holt Appropriations

George Radcliff said there could be no recommendation for appropriations on this assumption until the money had actually been paid to the state. A corporation lawyer in the lobby added there was little chance of the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific railroads settling the case as long as it was in the hands of attorneys who will get fat fees whether appeals are won or lost.

Numerous lobbyists and spectators enjoy the inquest being held over the budget in the assembly chamber each afternoon. It is for newspaper men to yawn, however. The governor has set the figures he will allow and little remains for the legislators to do other than hear the wails from certain department chiefs who found their nemesis in Mrs. Nettie Brewer Pierce.

RUSSIA IS WARY OF GERMAN PACT

Soviet Rule Is Permanent, Says British Observer After Long Trip

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service

LONDON, March 16.—There is no possible chance of Russia joining Germany on the Ruhr issue or helping Germany to drive the French out of the Ruhr valley, according to opinion expressed today by Lieutenant-Commander J. M. Kenworthy, M. P., who has just returned from a seven weeks' tour of Russia.

"Russia knows Germany is the only friend she has, but she is not going to fight Germany's battles for her," Kenworthy told International News.

"Russians regard the Ruhr as a capitalistic venture. They are not going to pull chestnuts from the fire for any group of capitalists.

"Russia is not going to make war against anybody. She wants peace and is bending all her energies toward re-establishing commercial and industrial prosperity rather than building up a military machine. France is flirting with Russia in trying to form a European bloc against England, but Russia is just as unwilling to ally herself with militaristic France as with Germany's capitalists.

Soviet Is Permanent

"It is time for the United States and England to recognize the fact that the present Russian government is there to stay. Both countries should give up their silly stubbornness and recognize the soviet government. They should resume full relations with Russia. There is no likelihood of any lasting Russo-Turkish alliances.

"The Russians know the Turks are their friends only so long as the Turks are able to make use of the Russians for their own advantage."

Arrest Marks End of Counterfeiters' Ring

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—William W. Ashe, secret service agent in charge, announced that the arrest in Portland of Frank Cole, alias Boisseau, completed the round-up of an alleged band of counterfeiters who had their headquarters in Seattle and who planned to put their product in circulation through the medium of border "bootleggers." Cole is thought by Ashe to have been fleeing to Canada.

Back Governor Richardson In Fight For Economy, Is Plea Of Tax Expert

By MARK L. REQUA

From 1911 to 1919 president of the Tax Association of Alameda county, California, and, during the war, in service at Washington in administrative affairs.

IT was to be expected that Governor Richardson's program of retrenchment would cause loud outcries from our state bureaucracy. Expectation has not been disappointed. The budget has been attacked, and we are met on all sides with protestations that the state machinery, in part, at least, will have to stop. But will it? If California per capita the most expensively governed state in the Union cannot retrench, what must happen to other states whose per capita expenditures in some cases are less than half of ours?

The purchasing power of the farmers in the United States generally, and in lesser degree in California, is seriously reduced. This is, therefore, largely an appeal to our rural communities to uphold the governor in his program because of the fact that the farming community more than any other needs economy in public expenditures.

Elwood Mead, professor of rural institutions at the University of California, has pointed out that the great problem of rural development centers around lower rates of interest and minimum expenses, of which latter taxes is the most significant single item.

It's true methods of taxation (such as the King bill) are proposed, but the people have come to realize that no matter how indirect the method of collecting tax money, from whatever source it may come, in last analysis it comes from the pockets of the public.

Our officials, by and large, have done little or nothing in the way of retrenchment. Governor Richardson has realization of the situation; is attempting to meet it, and should receive the loyal support of ALL the people in his efforts. He may make some mistakes; it would be a miracle if he does not; he has an eight years' job to round out fully the program he has undertaken, and he can succeed in one way and only in one way, and that is with the support of public opinion, plus patience upon the part of the people, and realization that everything cannot be accomplished at once. Mistakes are bound to arise, and the task will be made as difficult as possible by officials who do not want any retrenchment in their departments, and by employes who do not want to be separated from their jobs.

The situation is not new; is exactly what General Dawes encountered in Washington in making the national budget, and can be overcome in last analysis only by the weight of public opinion.

To prove that state, county, and city expenditures have grown by leaps and bounds over the last decade, or so, needs only presentation and examination of the following compilations:

TOTAL STATE, COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL TAXES COLLECTED IN YEARS 1912, 1917, 1919, 1921

| Year | State | County | Municipal | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1912 | $18,691,877 | $49,766,366 | $53,251,005 | $121,109,247 |
| 1917 | 34,886,139 | 79,055,350 | 73,393,193 | 187,334,683 |
| 1919 | 50,681,443 | 85,556,607 | 63,577,374 | 200,815,524 |
| 1921 | 65,598,516 | 166,013,384 | 93,312,719 | 324,924,620 |
| Percentage increase in 10 years | 259% | 233% | 75% | 166% |

Population increase about 40%.
Assessed value increase about 90%.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS OF THE STATE, THE COUNTIES AND MUNICIPALITIES FROM 1911 TO 1921

| Year | State | County | Municipal | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1911 | $ 5,677,500 | $22,655,890 | $65,573,033 | $ 93,906,423 |
| 1915 | 31,311,500 | 50,841,291 | 129,050,914 | 211,212,705 |
| 1918 | 39,367,500 | 62,947,875 | 137,018,593 | 239,333,968 |
| 1921 | 54,806,500 | 117,197,907 | 149,611,830 | 321,616,238 |
| Increase | 864% | 426% | 128% | 212% |

It is significant that the state and counties have increased in both tax payments and bonded indebtedness in far greater ratio than have the cities.

The day of reckoning has arrived for our state highway policy, under which inadequate construction plus indefensible overloading has caused the destruction within a few years of roads built with bonds that have years yet to run. As the result, we are confronted with a choice assortment of dead horse, for which we shall continue to pay well into the next generation.

Some of our other policies are also due for a day of reckoning. For instance: The total annual tax collection in California, omitting federal taxes, is roughly $325,000,000. Our assessed value is somewhere around $5,000,000,000. On this assessed value we collect in taxes something over 6 per cent or, in round figures, $325,000,000. The total value of all field products in California in 1921 was $343,000,000; the value of all minerals produced, including petroleum, was $268,000,000. In other words, our taxes consumed in value an amount greater by $55,000,000 than our total mineral production, and only $18,000,000 less than the entire value of all our field crops. We simply cannot go on increasing our taxes. It's not what we would like, it's what we can afford, that's the limiting factor. In the words of Taine, "The economic world, like the physical world, has its laws. We may misunderstand them, but we cannot escape them."

Taxation today is the paramount issue before the people, not only of California and the United States, but of the world as well, and the politicians who do not read the handwriting on the wall are going to be treated eventually to a most artistic example of steam rolling, only unlike some steam rollers this one is going to have the public as engineer.

Serpents Newest Pets Among London Women

LONDON, March 14.—Snakes are the newest pets for women, and increasing numbers of women who were formerly content with Pekinese and parrots are now returning to the Biblical pet of Eve.

One dealer who imports snakes reports that his two consignments a month are all sold before he receives them.

The smaller species of the serpent are the most eagerly sought after, and those varying in length from four to nine feet are finding a ready sale, he says.

Pigeon Comes Back for Second Nip of Liquor

BOSTON, March 16.—An exhausted carrier pigeon in mid-ocean fell on the deck of the Cunard liner Ausonia as she was crossing the Atlantic. The officers of the ship, now tied up at East Boston, called the chief steward, A. S. Bedford, who administered a small dose of whisky.

The pigeon quickly revived and flew away. When within 200 miles of Halifax the ship's officers were amazed to see the bird, again in an exhausted condition, drop on the deck. Whisky was again given the pigeon, with beneficial results, and it again flew from the ship.

Lima Lady Laments Laughing Liquor Loss

LIMA, Ohio, March 16.—Have a drink of "Ha! Ha;"

It's the latest in Lima in the shape of joy water.

Hearken:

Sound of police telephone ringing.

"Yea," chirped Virgil Cook, night desk officer.

"Robbery!" squealed an excited woman's voice.

"Thieves broke in the house while we were downtown and stole several jars of canned fruit and a two-gallon cask of—of—of—"

"Of what?" demanded Cook.

"Of—of—Ha! Ha!" answered the woman's voice.

When one's proofs are aptly chosen, four are as valid as four dozen.

Aged Veteran Wills Gold Teeth to Poor

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.—Michael Cahill, a civil war veteran, who died recently, wrote his last will and testament in a spirit of repentance and charity.

In concluding his will Cahill said:

"Obedience to the Divine law in death may in part compensate for disobedience in life."

Although his fortune was small he overlooked nothing in its distribution.

"To the poor," he said, "I wish to give the gold in my teeth."

For himself he made but one request, and that was that no embalming fluid be used on his body. As authority for this he referred to Ecclesiastes 12:7.

"Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was and the spirit shall return to God Who gave it."

Beware of little extravagances; a little leak will sink a big ship. —Franklin.

Shun "Neutralized" butter as you would rancid meat!

Get Clover Glen --- the Whole Milk Butter

the Butter that is Free from Chemicals and Preservatives.

"Neutralized" Butter is butter made from over-sour, often rancid, cream.

It is treated with chemicals to remove the rank smell and rancid taste.

The creamery man says he removes the "acidity."

Sure—the unscrupulous cook also removes "acidity" when she treats rancid meat with soda to sweeten it.

Folks don't like to feast on putrid food of any kind.

The taste and the odor might be removed, but that does not alter the fact that it is corrupt.

The ideal butter—the best butter—is made of SWEET CREAM from pure WHOLE MILK.

There are only a few whole milk creameries in the country.

You can enjoy the products of the Whole Milk creamery where the pure, fresh milk is picked up by fast motor trucks and turned into rich pats of wholesome butter—all within the space of a few hours.

Here in Southern California there is one such butter—CLOVER GLEN.

Clover Glen Butter is—by all standards of quality of the butter expert or housewife—ONE BUTTER that can be absolutely depended upon.

It is the zenith of the art of butter making.

Glover Glen is the choicest product of a land famed as the home of contented cows. It has the advantage of coming from "grass-fed" herds that produce a kind and character of butter such as can only be compared to the butter from the old farm.

Made from fresh, SWEET CREAM that goes direct from cow to creamery Clover Glen Butter is free from all chemicals. You buy nothing but BUTTER and REAL Quality Butter at that when you buy Clover Glen.

The output is necessarily limited. But you may enjoy Clover Glen Butter by placing a standing order with your grocer NOW.

FAVOR PURCHASE OF CITY AIRPORT

Glendale Improvement Assn. Denounces Injunction Suit at Meeting

Glendale's purchase of a municipal airport was indorsed yesterday noon in the Harriet Mae Tea Room, 201 East Harvard street, by the Glendale Improvement association.

Dr. T. C. Young of 620 East Broadway denounced the application for the court injunction to prevent the city administration from making any more payments upon the purchase of Verdugo park and the municipal airport until the legality of the sale can be tested in the Superior court.

"This injunction has caused very little trouble at the park," commented Mr. Young, "but at the airport it has absolutely been disastrous."

According to Dr. Young, no leases can be signed with prospective tenants of the airport until this suit is concluded and title has been obtained to the property. He asserted that the case had been postponed from March 8 to March 11, then to March 13 and now to March 22. He said that he understood that an attempt will be made to have the case delayed until November.

"Now you can see," he remarked, "what is going to happen to the airport if this is allowed to happen."

Inspect Property

George Montgomery of 500 Kenneth road, who filed the petition for the injunction, is reported to have been taken on a tour of inspection of the airport recently and to have admitted that it was a good business buy. He is said to have stated that his backers would not permit him to withdraw the injunction.

"I think that is one of the finest sources of advertising that a town could have," remarked C. E. Stanley of 108 North Everett street, commenting upon the airport. "I don't see why a man with ordinary intelligence can't see it."

Dr. Jessie Russell of 208 South Brand boulevard suggested that the letter which it was proposed should be written objecting to further delay of this suit should be addressed to City Attorney Hartley Shaw to be read by him, if permitted, into the court minutes.

"The airport was a good buy," announced Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway with enthusiasm. "From the standpoint of finance, I don't know of anything that the city has done which is more commendable than that purchase. From a personal standpoint I and many others would like to buy that property for the price the city has paid for it. They certainly got a bargain and private interests could make money on the proposition if they could get it. In a very short time it will be proved that it is worth many times more than we can imagine at this time."

Paving Material

The question of the proper material to be used in the paving of Glendale avenue was the next subject brought up for discussion. Charles F. Stuart of 638 Broadway reported that a controversy was raging around asphaltic concrete, which is largely oil and gravel, and concrete.

S. C. Kinch of 328 North Brand boulevard remarked: "I think we ought to have the best paving on Glendale avenue that we can get."

J. K. Todd of 130 South Glendale avenue expressed an opinion that concrete would provide the best paving material.

"I think that one of the appealing features of concrete is that it may be easily repaired," said W. L. Truitt of 317 West Doran street. "I think that our experiences with concrete roads have demonstrated that they are satisfactory. They are much easier to drive over and an automobile is much less likely to skid upon them in wet weather."

Concrete roads vary greatly in quality, according to G. H. Gibbs of 704 East Broadway, who asserted that a chuck hole in a concrete road was the worst possible handicap for a motorist.

C. W. Ingledue of 501 East Wilson avenue, who presided at the meeting, stated that he did not understand that proceedings were being delayed pending the decision of the Glendale Improvement association.

Mashed Potatoes Save Undertaker From Death

BROOKLYN, March 15.-Mashed potatoes may not shine in history as a life saver, but John J. Carberry, an undertaker, probably would be resting in one of his best upholstered coffins tonight if it had not been for this humble dish.

Carberry, taking lunch with his aunt, swallowed the wishbone of a chicken and was slowly strangling to death when the dish of mashed potatoes came to his rescue and saved the undertaker from a grave situation.

While ambulance physicians were vainly trying to locate their bone extracting apparatus, Mrs. Irene Sutton, a neighbor, dashed in with a platter of well mashed potatoes and packed them into Mr. Carberry's face until the pressure forced the wish bone down in its proper resting place.

If Mr. Carberry ever gets rich enough to have a coat of arms, he said, he will have a dish of mashed potatoes rampant over a chicken bone couchant, surrounded by a wreath of resurrection flowers.

The beautiful is nothing else than the visible form of good.—Plato.

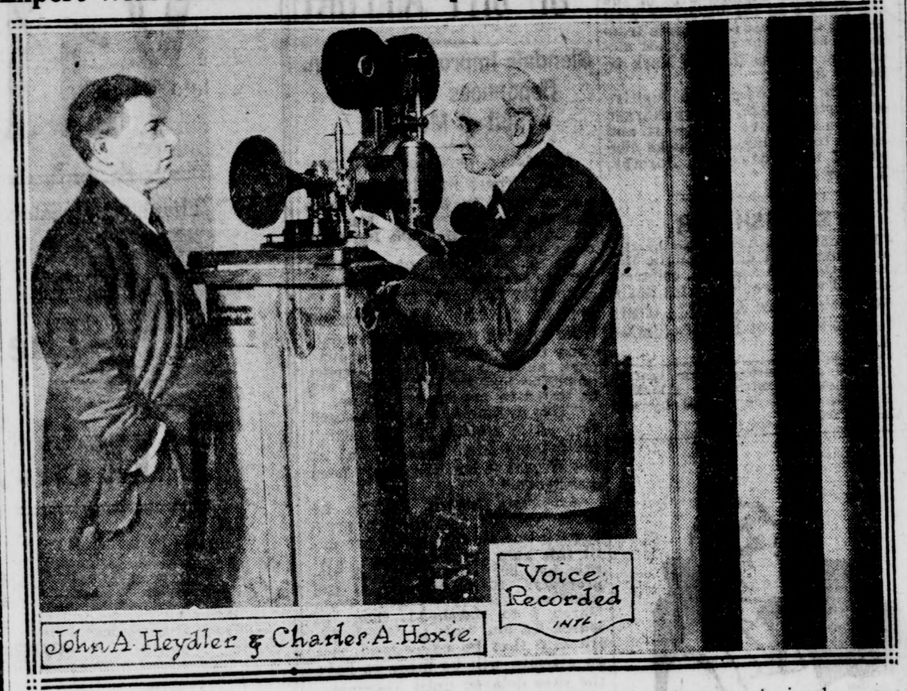
NEW MACHINE PHOTOGRAPHS HUMAN VOICE, CLAIM

Expert With General Electric Company Introduces 'Pallophotophone'



Charles A. Hoxie, of the General Electric Company, has introduced a new device known as the Pallophotophone, which photographs sound on motion picture films, the sound waves actuating a diaphragm. This in turn causes a corresponding vibration to a tiny mirror fastened firmly upon a steel shaft set between two sets of jewels. A beam of light is focused upon the mirror, and the vibrating mirror flashes it upon the film. After the film has been developed it can be made to reproduce the sound it photographed. President John A. Heydler, of the National league, is shown with the inventor, who is recording Mr. Heydler's voice for transmission by radio.

MURDERED
—FOR—
A PAIR OF BEAUTIFUL SHOES

"THE VICTIM"

MURIA

—In the realms of Tut-ankh-amen, 3000 years ago, there existed a lawless band, which could be placed on a par with our present day gangster band. It was called the "Eternal Triangle," and the brains of the outfit were two Egyptian women.

—Their plans for unlawful exploits were unexcelled, and crimes committed were never traced back to them. How long this band would have lasted, and how much longer their list of crimes would have grown, heaven only knows, had not a crime within their very ranks happened which eventually broke up this notorious clan.

"THE MURDERESS"

SOFIA

—Muria Kanhuntu and Sofia Hanankug, the real brains, were very beautiful women and both in love with the gangster leader, Zaranktu. Upon Muria, his favorite, he frequently bestowed priceless gifts. One of these gifts was a wonderfully beautiful pair of new Egyptian sandals. Muria displayed these haughtily and got Sofia's goat. In a fit of anger, Sofia stabbed Muria to death, and tore off the sandals, placing them on her own feet.

—She was arrested, found guilty and thrown into prison, but was allowed to retain these sandals. Then, out of revenge, she betrayed the gang, which was quickly broken up. And all for a pair of beautiful shoes. Sofia went crazy over them! But what woman would not go crazy over a pair of pretty and new creative footwear?

Why Tolerate a Leaky Roof?

You don't want to be like the Arkansas farmer who reasoned that when it was raining he couldn't repair his roof and when it was fair his roof didn't need it.

Hundreds of dollars damage to interior decorations or unsightly ceiling or wall discoloration may result just from a leaky roof.

If your roof is in such condition that it won't stand a driving rain without leaking, don't temporize with it. The economical thing to do is to replace it with a "Weaver" Roof.

Repair and upkeep expense are eliminated in "Weaver" Roofs. And they can't leak—for when properly laid the whole roof becomes one solid sheet—weather proof and water proof—and fully guaranteed by Weaver Roof Co.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 14.—Now that there is an end to the typographical rhapsodies over the effort of Harold ("Boots") Lever in running 70 yards in the world's record time of 7 1-10 seconds, it might be just as well to point out that the performance does not mark the present-day sprinter as a superman any more than sleeve garters mark the aristocrat. As a matter of blue-ribboned fact, the art of sprinting hasn't improved a jot in forty years, Lever, Leconey and Paddock to the contrary.

But the boys who prove it by the figures will attempt to tell you that it has.

"Is this the millennium?" they ask with all due gravity. It is to laugh.

Lever was aided in breaking a world's record at the intercollegiate games by an innovation in timing, not because he is a step faster than were Howard Drew, Schick, Cloughan, Wefers, Duffy and others. In fact, we are pleased to doubt whether Lever is quite as fast as were those hasty individuals of other days.

Nearly all of them were credited with having run the distance in 7 1-5 seconds. They might have run faster upon the occasions in question, but no one will ever know, for the reason that watches in those days were divided into fifths of a second only. In other words, there was no intermediate point in case a sprinter shaded 7 1-5. He would have to do 7 seconds flat to get credit for the record.

It was the same timing device, introduced less than a year ago, that helped Alfred Leconey to break the intercollegiate 100-yard mark. The old standard, held jointly by Bernie Wefers, Jr.; Ralph Craig and Jimmy Paterson, was 9 4-5 seconds. Leconey was timed with the new watch in 9 7-10. Was Leconey a faster man than Wefers or Craig? We think not. The officials merely held a more favorable type of watch on his performance, which Wefers, Craig and even Patterson might very easily have equalled under similar conditions. But to receive credit for bettering 9 4-5 they would have had to run 100 in 9 3-5.

The same ill-advised yammer went up over this effort, and it was also noted in connection with the record for 60 yards, made during the winter by Loren Murchison. If one were to follow the line of reasoning laid down by self-elected critics Murchison would have to be acclaimed the greatest 60-yard man of the last forty-one years—for the old record, though equalled many times, stood that long.

However, few critics seem inclined to look below the surface for reasons.

"When will it end?" they ask, meaning the orgy of record breaking in the sprints. We can answer that one readily. It will end just as soon as the boys get the full and complete benefit of the doubt from the tenth-second watches at all distances. At that moment the orgy will become a calm without further notice.

"SMILING JIMMY" THAT'S HIS CAMPUS NAME

HOLDS THE WORLD'S INDOOR RECORD FOR TWO-THIRDS OF A MILE - 2 M. 43⅗ SEC.

Winter indoor track meets are always barometers of coming track performances for the spring outdoor meets.

Ten world indoor records, at this writing, have been shattered so far this winter.

James Connolly, better known as "Smiling Jimmy" of Georgetown university, clipped a few seconds off the indoor two-thirds of a mile record. His other performances this winter and in the past stamp him as one of the best middle distance runners on the boards today. He also is the inter-collegiate one-mile champion of 1921. He won this event at Harvard Stadium in the remarkable time of 4 m., 17 1-5 sec., which is the best stepping he has done for the mile.

Jimmy hails from Woburn, Mass., and in his high school days made a rep for himself in school track meets. This should be his greatest year, and it is our bet that James will pile up many a point for his team.

Connolly's a popular fellow at Georgetown. This is shown by the fact that he was elected captain of the track team when only a junior and was unanimously elected to refill the position again this year. Despite his success, he is very modest. He is an ardent devotee of all branches of athletics, being fairly good at them all. Football is his passion and were it not for the excellence of his track performances he would be the regular quarterback on the Varsity team. As it is, he manages to get into some of the inter-class games.

Connolly is about five feet seven and one-half inches tall, weighs 165 pounds when in good condition, and is 23 years old.

Besides being intensely interested in athletics, Jimmy stands well in his classes. He receives his degree at law this year.

SPORTS CHATTER

The poor showing of Mrs. Molla Mallory in the tennis tournaments in France is simply a repetition of the way she started in Europe last year. Her playing abroad in 1922 was not up to her regular standard, but she "came back" in her game on her return to this country.

At that, however, there were many who believed that the American champion did not show as well as in previous years, and now there seems to be a feeling that Mrs. Mallory is due to drop her title after having it in her possession seven years. The playing of Mrs. Mallory is being very closely followed on the Pacific coast and the reason is that many of the close students of tennis believe that if Mrs. Mallory does not show her real tennis this year that Miss Helen Wills, the 16-year-old child of Berkeley, Cal., will defeat Mrs. Mallory and take the title.

William C. Fuller of Berkeley, and the one man more than any other who has been responsible for the advancement of little Helen Wills, believes that the girl from California can win the national women's title this year.

"Last year," says Fuller, "I stated publicly that I did not think Helen could win the women's national title. Now I am ready to be publicly quoted that it is my opinion that Helen will win the 1923 championship. She has greatly improved her game and the few faults that critics pointed to last year have been overcome. She is playing a wonderful game right now, but is not yet headed to the condition necessary for the time the championships will be played.

"Miss Wills is a popular figure on the eastern courts now and besides that she has the support of tennis people all over the country. Mrs. Mallory is not as popular as she used to be. She is always too confident of winning her matches and plainly shows it. Miss Wills is more confident in her playing this year than ever before, and even in the past she has never showed nervousness on the courts."

Little Helen Wills, however, is not as sure of her ability to win the title as her friends. This is due more to the child's natural modesty and refusal to take herself too seriously. She is modesty personified. When the poor showing of Mrs. Mallory was pointed out to her and when she was asked what she thought of her chances this year she said:

"Mrs. Mallory is a wonderful player. Last year she did not begin the season well, but she won the title."

That was all the school girl would have to say about her opponent. Nothing derogatory to the champion, nothing that would indicate she can beat Mrs. Mallory, in fact the statement can be taken to imply that Mrs. Mallory can again win the national title from Miss Wills' statement.

However, Miss Wills is practising daily. She is making every preparation to be at her best this year and when she does take the opposite court to Molla Mallory the present champion will meet a girl lacking nervousness and primed for the contest of her life.

The Coronado (California) Kennel club is actively engaged in its preparations for its second annual show to be held at Coronado on April 6 and 7. The initial show held last year proved a big success, the southern part of California being rich in the number of highly pedigreed canines. Among the most enthusiastic members are a number of the motion picture actors and actresses who are owners of a number of the best bred and highest priced dogs in the country. It is likely also that a number of dogs famous to movie picture fans will be shown.

The judges will be Mrs. Elliott Dexter who is a recognized expert for shepherd dogs, and John Bradshaw, in the other breeds. Mrs. Dexter's reputation as a breeder of the shepherd dog is national and she has the finest kennel of these dogs west of the Mississippi river. She has judged in all parts of the United States at the majority of the big bench shows where she is in constant demand.

Dr. Saxton T. Pope of San Francisco, an expert with the bow and arrows, does not consider that a huntsman with either a rifle or shot gun is a true sport in the sense that all the advantage is on his side and the animal does not get fair play and an even chance for its life. Dr. Pope has shot everything from quail to grizzlies with his bow and arrows and is qualified to express an opinion in this regard although it is not likely he will convert many to his way of thinking.

Pope received his training from an aboriginal Indian of California and soon was able to shoot better than his teacher. Pope says that at from 25 to 50 yards an arrow properly placed will stop the charge of a bear equally with a high powered rifle. He makes all of his bows and arrows, of which he has a fine collection. It is his hobby and he has a fine library on the art going back before the days of Robin Hood.

Joe Stecher, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, who has engaged in a number of matches recently on the Pacific coast, continues to make a good impression albeit the men he has had against him are scarcely high enough in the game to give the leg scissors expert the real tryouts he needs. He has been using this famous hold in all cases to win his matches and its deadly grip seems to have lost none of its oldtime terror. Should he get up against champion Strangler Ed. Lewis, it may be a horse of another color. Stecher is one of the greatest assets the wrestling game ever has had. He is modest and quiet and is altogether an asset.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Reports given wide circulation that Bill Brennan, Chicago heavyweight, had died from the effects of the knockout blow administered by Luis Fjrpo on Monday night were denied at the Jewish Memorial hospital where the pugilist is confined with concussion of the brain.

Another X-ray photograph revealed no evidence of a fracture and the patient is resting easily, the hospital authorities declared. Brennan is not believed to be seriously injured it was added.

He declared however, that he expected to have a definite announcement to make within the next twenty-four hours.

FRENCH NET ACE BEATS U. S. STAR

Mrs. Mallory Overwhelmed By Dashing Attack of Mlle. Lenglen

By HARRY S. FLOREY
For International News Service

NICE, France, March 16.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the French champion, gave Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, the American champion, and her deadly rival, the worst beating of her career in the fourth round of the woman's singles today, winning in straight sets without the loss of a single game.

The American was overwhelmed by the brilliance of Suzanne's stroking.

In spite of the obvious efforts of the officials to deprecate the match by scheduling it for the morning, a great crowd turned out and last minute requests for seats necessitated the erection overnight of an extra stand. King Gustav of Sweden and Mary Garden, the prima donna, were members of the notable gallery.

Mrs. Mallory took the result with good grace. She smiled as she advanced to the net to congratulate Suzanne.

Inaccuracies in volleying worked Molla's downfall. Her game seemed to collapse altogether under the relentless fire of Mlle. Lenglen's drives. Not a double fault was committed during the match, but otherwise the total of errors was all in favor of the French champion, Molla netting twenty-three times to ten for Suzanne and driving the ball out of court twenty-one times as against only five for her rival.

From the outset, the play was all in Suzanne's favor. Indeed, Mrs. Mallory could score only one point in each of the first four games of the opening set and altogether totaled eight points for the set to twenty-six for Mlle. Lenglen.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Brooklyn—Georgie Ward, Elizabeth, N. J., got decision over Soldier Bartfield, New York, in twelve rounds.

At Columbus—Waldo Patterson and Pat Daley, Cincinnati, draw, twelve rounds.

At Chicago—Battling Chink scored a technical knockout over Bud Dempsey in the fifth round; Battling Williams won from Jabber Young in six rounds; Eddie Walsh beat Jimmy Dennis in six rounds.

FINDS GIGANTIC OREGON ATHLETE

Jack Horner, 245 Pound Boxer, May Develop Into Fistic Star

By International News Service.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 16.—Has Jack Horner, 245-pound boxer, who has been dubbed the "Oregon Giant," any possibility of developing into a star of first magnitude among the big fellows in the fistic game today?

That question, more than any other one, has been asked by the boxing followers since Fred Winsor, who, at one time, managed Jack Dempsey, uncovered the big fellow a couple of weeks back. Time alone will tell whether he has the heart to make a successful boxer among the heavies.

In the gymnasium Horner appears as though he may be developed into a good heavyweight. For a giant, with virtually no experience save what he has gathered unto himself by a couple of bouts and in bag punching at his home, he has more speed than Jess Willard, who is the biggest man who ever entered the ring, and hits straighter than Willard and with almost as much power, although he is not as big as the Kansan.

Comparative measurements reveal that Horner has a reach of 80½ inches—6½ inches more than Jack Dempsey and 2⅛ inches less than Jess. He is one-half an inch taller than Willard, although his general chest measurements fall short of those of Dempsey.

Room for Growth

His measurements, however, will increase as he trains, say trainers, just as Dempsey became a physical marvel after he took the fistic game seriously. Horner has been training for the last couple of weeks and will soon be ready to make his debut before the Portland fans. It will be some time before he is ready to take a swing at the big fellows in the East, if that is in the cards for him.

Horner has youth in his favor, of course.

Jess Willard was past 30 when he won the world's heavyweight title, while Horner will not be 22 until the middle of March. Horner, if he develops, cannot hope to be up among the contenders for the crown now worn by Dempsey for a couple of years.

Fred Winsor, who has followed the fistic game for a number of years, is very enthusiastic about the future of the "Oregon Giant."

Here are his measurements:

Age, 21 years; height, 6 feet 6½ inches; neck, 16½ inches; reach, 80½ inches; chest, normal, 42 inches; chest, expanded, 45 inches; chest, expelled, 40 inches; waist, 36 inches; hips, 43 inches; thigh, 25 inches; knee, 18 inches; calf, 16½ inches; ankle, 11 inches; biceps, 14½ inches; forearm, 13 inches; wrist, 9 inches; fist, 8 inches; weight, 245 pounds.

Owing to the fact of entering business in Los Angeles, states Samuel J. Bell, he is obliged to resign management of the Glendale "Indians," in favor of Walter Heidler, who will conduct the team until further notice.

"It is with sincere regret that I forfeit the management of such a clean-spirited, red-blooded, loyal bunch of fellows" says Mr. Bell, "and I hereby take the opportunity to express my deep appreciation of the support rendered all along the line.

"I wish my successor, Manager Heidler, the same fine cooperation I have enjoyed and I am confident the string of successes the team has had will continue."

Alguin Scores Point In Fight for Freedom

LOS ANGELES, March 16.—"Little Phil' Alguin alleged slayer of Detective Sergeant J. J. Coincident with the delay granted Alguin it was learned that Mrs. Catherine Uribe, former Broadway dancing beauty and the woman who brought about his deportation from Mexico, has come to his aid and will furnish funds for a competent attorney to defend him. Mrs. Uribe explained she was aiding Alguin so as to prevent, if possible, any misstep of justice.

TODAY—"Second-story" glass streets are proposed for San Francisco writes Ellis H. Martin, San Francisco correspondent.

TOMORROW—Abandonment of the elevated railway between Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., causes storm of protest in both cities, writes Kenneth Harris, Kansas City correspondent.

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Like other American cities, San Francisco due to the rapid increase in motor vehicle traffic, has a serious traffic problem on Market street—Broadway of the west. The solution is complicated by the fact that four street car tracks traverse the thoroughfare. Engineers are offering many interesting solutions.

The latest is an overhead driveway built of glass. This would have the street car tracks undisturbed and divert the motor traffic to the overhead driveway. The glass would be reinforced by a skeleton work of steel, the glass permitting the sunlight to penetrate the lower street as at present.

Another engineer has drawn plans for an open-air subway. The street would be excavated by hydraulic power, the earth removed being used to fill in a portion of the bay for an industrial district. There would be three levels to the street. The present, which would be devoted to a promenade for pedestrians. A second, for pedestrians and motor traffic, and a third level for street car and rapid transit transportation. Calculations by this engineer are to the effect this plan could be carried through at a reasonable cost.

The recent sea quake which resulted in a disastrous tidal wave at Hawaii had some curious effects around San Francisco bay which may or may not be attributable to the seismic phenomenon. The day following the tidal wave a huge whale was seen "blowing" within a few hundred yards of the beach—San Francisco's playgrounds. Hundreds watched the monster in its antics. It was a rare sight, and for want of a better explanation it was suggested the sea quake had driven the sea monster in close to shore. Then the seals, wont to disport themselves on Seal Rock, have departed their usual haunt for the Farralone Islands about twenty-five miles off Golden Gate. Old timers recall that following the earthquake of 1906 the seals changed their domicile to the Farralones for awhile. However, a more probable explanation for the disaffection of the seals is offered by students of zoology. An oil tanker recently went ashore near Seal Rocks and oil from its tanks continually seeps out. This probably had driven the seals away temporarily, as it has killed the fish in the vicinity.

Improvement of penal conditions is to be the next phase of the remarkable life of Harry Brolaski. Known as the "master mind" of the bootleggers, Brolaski served more than a year a McNeil's Island federal penitentiary for his alleged violation of the Volstead act.

A politician of note, former mayor of the city of Redondo Beach, author of a book exposing book making and confidence games, Brolaski, who probably owes his life to his term of imprisonment, now plans to fight for a congressional appropriation of $200 000 to replace the antiquated structures at McNeil's Island with modern buildings.

Physical examination of Brolaski at prison revealed the fact that he was suffering from cancer, and while a prisoner he underwent an operation and hovered between life and death for weeks. He declared on his return here that while prison management was on a high plane, the housing conditions were bad and he planned to show his appreciation for the "square deal" he got while in prison by boosting the movement for better buildings at the federal institution.

Flivvers Are Common All Over Holy Land

BOSTON, March 16.—The Registry of Motor Vehicles of Massachusetts has received a request for advice concerning the regulation of motor traffic in Palestine.

The request for information comes as a result of the traffic situation which developed on the Eastern country with the entry of American-made automobiles.

From Dan to Beersheba the camel and the ass have been supplanted by the clattering flivver, and in the roadways of Jerusalem, Samaria, Gaza and other places known throughout Christendom are "filling" stations where once were inns.

The condition was brought to light in a letter received by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin recently from Captain J. W. Boyer, Jr., of the American army.

Captain Boyer writes that "the automobile situation in Palestine is fast becoming acute, due to the ever-increasing number of motor cars received here, principally for American tourist business."

Captain Boyer asked that information be sent by Registrar Goodwin regarding the establishment of a bureau, the scale of fees charged in Massachusetts, general rules in force for the regulation of the operation of motor vehicles in towns and the open country, signs, registration and license forms, the new headlight and tail-light laws and any other general recommendations which might assist the Director of Public Works for Palestine.

THE POWER TIRE PUMP
Keep It In Order for the Hour of Need

A power air-pump for inflating tires now forms part of the equipment of most of the higher priced cars. This useful accessory does not require much attention, but it does need a little. Although it is used but seldom, it must be properly lubricated, whenever it is working. One largely used make of pump uses engine oil distributed by wicks, which rub against the piston, for the lubrication of this part, the oil being supplied through holes in the cylinder base and also through one leading to the crankshaft bearings. A few drops should be supplied each time the pump is used. Some pumps have their crankcases packed with non-fluid graphite lubricant or supplied with oil for splash lubrication, which should be occasionally replenished. Tire pumps wear out early and fail to give full pressure, if allowed to run dry. They are driven from one of the transmission shafts, by the meshing of two sliding gears, one carried on the pump shaft and the other on the transmission shaft, engagement being brought about by moving a lever, pushing or pulling a rod or turning a slotted piece set into the car floor. In order to avoid damaging the gears it is best to mesh them when they are at rest and then to start the engine, or at least to have the engine idling very slowly and the clutch disengaged, when the gears are thrown in. Very high pump speed gives no better inflation results than moderate speed and wears the pump out rapidly. An engine speed equivalent to 15 to 20 miles per hour on high gear gives excellent results in most cases. After the tire pump has been in use and is no longer needed care should be taken that it is at once thrown out of gear. With pumps having their intakes exposed, dust which collects thereat should be wiped off so that it may not get under the valves.

Repaired Engine Lacks Pep

W. E. C. writes: Since having my engine's bearings taken up, its valves ground and new piston-rings put in, it has lost its "pep" to such an extent that I have to resort to low gear in climbing an ordinary hill. What is wrong and how can it be remedied?

Answer: Your piston rings may fit badly so that the cylinders do not hold compression, or some of the valves may still be leaking. Some of the exhausts may be holding open. Try handcranking the engine and see if each cylinder retains its charge well. Perhaps the engine is very stiff on account of the rings having too little end-clearance or the bearings being adjusted too tightly, which will result in so great friction loss that the available power will be reduced and will also call for extreme care on your part until the parts become limbered up. Possibly the spark timing was disarranged and is now too late or the carburetor may have been thrown out of adjustment. Engines very frequently work badly after an overhauling, until readjustments are correctly made and the new parts work in.

Aluminum Pistons

R. S. McC. asks: What are the chief arguments for and against aluminum pistons?

Answer: Among the arguments in favor are the following: That they are lighter than cast-iron pistons of the requisite strength and that, by their use, higher engine speeds are permissible and a larger output per unit of piston displacement attainable. That they are superior to cast-iron pistons in the matter of heat conduction, making the liability of pre-ignition of the charges considerably less. The principal arguments against aluminum alloy pistons is based upon the fact that this metal has a larger co-efficient of heat expansion than cast-iron and that therefore aluminum pistons have to be fitted with considerable more clearance, with the result that, until the engine heats up, there is a greater escape of gases and condensed fuel past them and sometimes piston slap occurs. This argument, however, has been largely invalidated by the introduction of "constant clearance" alloy pistons, having split skirts, which can be fitted much closer than solid pistons, without danger of becoming too tight, when hot.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND MR. SNAPPER

The sun was getting warmer each day in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived, and some of the snow and ice was melting.

"Soon it will be spring," joyfully thought the bunny rabbit gentleman as he hopped along over the fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure.

He reached the bank of a small pond which had been tightly frozen but which, under the kindly, warm sun, was now almost free of ice.

"I suppose it will not be very long," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, "before Lulu, Alice and Jimmie Wibblewobble, the ducks, will be paddling about in this pond. When it gets warmer I may take a little dip myself, pretending that it's the ocean. But I guess I'd better not go in now. I'll see how cold the water is."

Uncle Wiggily dipped the tip of one paw in the water of the pond. He was just going to shiver and say how cold it was, when, all of a sudden, a dark shadow seemed to swim along, just under the top of the water, and a pair of sharp jaws made a snap for Uncle Wiggily's paw.

"Oh, my! What's this!" cried the bunny gentleman, jumping back. "Who are you that is trying to bite me?"

Then a black head, with a beak something like that of a parrot, was lifted from the water and a voice said:

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't know it was you, Uncle Wiggily, or I never would have tried to snap you."

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit.

"I'm Mr. Snapper, the turtle," was the answer. "All winter I have been fast asleep in the mud at the bottom of the pond. But now I feel the thrill of coming spring and I awakened. I was swimming around under water looking for something to eat, for I am very hungry, and I saw your paw. I thought it was something good."

"It is," spoke Uncle Wiggily, with a chuckle. "It is a very good paw for me. But I wouldn't like you to nibble it."

"No, and I wouldn't have tried, if I had known it was you," said Mr. Snapper. "But, oh, dear!" I am so hungry, having had nothing all winter."

"Wait here and I'll bring you something from my bungalow," offered Uncle Wiggily. "Nurse Jane will have some table scraps."

The bunny rabbit gentleman hopped away, but soon hopped back to the pond with some good things for Mr. Snapper Turtle to eat.

"Oh, how kind you are," said the turtle as he ate the food. "I should like to do you a favor, Uncle Wiggily."

"Pray do not speak of that," begged the bunny gentleman as he politely twinkled his pink nose.

And it was not long after that before Mr. Snapper found a chance to do Uncle Wiggily a kindness. The bunny gentleman was on his way to take an apple dumpling in a pail to Uncle Butter, the goat, who had a cold in one of his horns, when, as Mr. Longears reached the pond where Mr. Snapper lived, the rabbit sat down to rest near the bank. There was a log in the sunny place which made a fine bench, and Uncle Wiggily sat on the log beside him with his back to the pond, looking across it and wishing for summer.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily sat there, along came the Fuzzy Fox, sneaking up so quietly that the rabbit never heard him until the Fox sat down on the log beside him, with back to the water.

"What have you here, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the Fox, pointing to the pail near the bunny.

"I have there an apple dumpling for Uncle Butter," was the reply.

"And what are these?" went on the Fox, pointing to Uncle Wiggily's long ears.

"You know what they are," said the rabbit.

"Yes, and I'll nibble both them and eat the apple dumpling, too!

'Ouch! Who bit my tail?' howled the Fox.

That's what I'll do!" howled the Fox. And just then the end of his tail drooped over the log and into the water just as Mr. Snapper Turtle came swimming along. The turtle saw the end of the Fox tail in the water.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily has brought me something more good to eat!" thought the turtle, and he took a big bite.

"Ouch! Wouch! Oh, who bit my tail? Who bit my tail?" howled the Fox and pulling what was left of it out of the water away he ran as fast as he could run.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, "Ha! Ha!" laughed Mr. Snapper. "At last I did you a favor, Uncle Wiggily."

"Yes," agreed the bunny, "so you did, and I'll give you a little of Uncle Butter's apple dumpling because that one bite from the tail of the Fox wasn't enough for you."

And ever after that Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Snapper were good friends. And if the kitchen chair doesn't get its legs all tangled up when it tries to jump rope with the string bean, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Wolf trap.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

A RADIO RECEIVING SET WHICH CAN BE OPERATED BY ANYONE

The Acmefone is a complete receiving set—with the exception of antenna, vacuum tubes and batteries—containing a tuner, detector, amplifier and loud speaker in a polished mahogany cabinet. Space is provided for B batteries.

INDUCTANCE AND CAPACITY

Referring to the analogy of the tin whistle in the last article, wherein it was employed in an endeavor to illustrate the relations of capacity and inductance in a receiving set, we have warned the reader against applying the simile too literally, but it is hoped that it will enable the non-technical man to understand something of the method of combining the properties of inductance and capacity which his tuning coils possess. Remembering that his inductance and his antenna already possess capacity sufficient for most purposes of tuning, on short wave lengths at least, and the majority of the present broadcasting and amateur work is performed on those lengths, he will perhaps be more careful as to adding a large condenser and drowning out some of his chances of success. For best results, the combining of the two properties, as gas and air in the carburetor of an automobile, although an imperfect mixture will, in both cases, produce results of a more or less unsatisfactory nature.

Before leaving the above subject we may point out that in adding capacity for short wave tuning the small series condenser when used enables the experimenter to tune in with the maximum amount of wire on his inductance coil and gives him ample margin on received power than will a condenser connected in a parallel with his coil, but this he can very easily prove for himself by experiment. A series condenser improves signal strength on wave lengths, say, up to 600 meters, but above this a parallel condenser is often better for good results, unless additional inductance is added by means of "loading coils" when the series arrangement may be continued within certain limits.

Sue Physical Culture Teacher for $100,000

NEW YORK, March 15.—Dr. Watson L. Savage, physical culture specialist, was named defendant in suits for $75,000 growing out of a fall suffered by one of his patients, Mrs. Ben Ginsberg, on March 17, last. Through Jacob Klein, attorney, Mrs. Ginsberg avers she was told to hoist herself up by swinging ropes and then ordered by an employe of the defendant to drop, which she did, breaking her nose and receiving other injuries. Mr. Ginsberg also asks $25,000 damages.

Irish Plan Campaign To Halt Moonshining

DUBLIN, March 15.—Moonshine making is to be stamped out in Ireland, Kevin O'Higgins, Home Minister of Dail Eireann, declares.

"This making of moonshine," he said, "has now reached such a stage that it has become a national crime. Several people have died from the drinking of illicit spirits; in at least two cases it has been responsible for two murders.

"Special measures are to be taken for the stoppage of this ruinous traffic. Our first aim will be to deprive the poteen maker ('moonshine' is poteen in Ireland) of the materials for the making of that vile product, and enforcement of drastic supervision on the sale of methylated spirit to the extent of even preventing altogether its sale upon Sundays and Saturday nights.

"As sugar, treacle, malted barley, oats and wheat and preparations of glucose sugar are the principal ingredients which the poteen maker uses, the cutting off of such materials—or at least making it exceedingly difficult, if not impossible to get—will be the first step.

"The sale of brown and coarse sugars, treacle, glucose in any considerable quantities to any person, unless for certain business purposes, such as the making of confectionery and jam, is to be prohibited, unless the permit of the military commanding officer of the district is first obtained. The same rule will obtain will regard to malted barley, oats and wheat, unless in the legitimate business of a malt dealer or exporter. Yeast will be similarly dealt with."

Frenchman Used War Munitions in Murder

PARIS, March 15.—The armies that fought across the fields of northern France were made accessory to a murder the other day it was revealed. Francois Salvador and Jacques Russel were employed to gather and destroy unexploded shells which still are to be found on the battlefields. They quarreled and Salvador killed his fellow workman. The murderer then placed Russel's body on a pile of ammunition and set it off. He told the authorities at first that the dead man had dropped a cigaret into the ammunition.

Dust Killing Device Saves Factory Power

CHICAGO, March 16.—Saving of money, time and fire risk has been accomplished by an invention announced by Colonel Geo. Fabyan, Chicago inventor. It is a device to kill dust and save power in factories.

Colonel Fabyan's early scientific discoveries include a deadening for walls of apartment and office buildings, a unique process for photographing and measuring sound, and interesting revelations concerning the Bacon-Shakespeare manuscripts.

His latest invention consists of two discs, which are attached to the sides of pulley wheels. The inventor claims it will reduce the required pulling power from one-sixth to one-fifteenth per cent.

In a demonstration of the invention a sensitive tachometer registered 30 ounces and the number of revolutions a minute as 1,650. With a stop watch it took 22 seconds to stop the wheel, without the discs. When the invention was attached the same performance was repeated, and the tachometer registered two and one-half ounces created by 1,725 revolutions per minute and stopped in 12 seconds.

"These two discs will do a lot for factories where this saving of power would run into large sums each year. I have estimated that the yearly saving on one wheel would be $1,," said Colonel Fabyan.

In addition to the monetary saving, the inventor claims the discs will do away with accidents, since a man can't get his hands caught in the flywheels. Possibility of fire is removed by keeping dust off the wheels, thus lowering fire risks.

Bullets Flying Round Head Are Bothersome

ELYRIA, Ohio, March 15.—Complaint that bullets kept flying near his head, interfering with his work, was lodged with the police by John Hackendorn. An investigation disclosed that the bullets were fired by persons taking part in an indoor revolver practice shoot.

A miser grows rich by seeming poor—an extravagant man grows poor by seeming rich.

They Say That

The ghastliness of warfare is shockingly impressed by official figures showing the casualties suffered by Great Britain in the world struggle. Britain's casualties, as officially reported by Chancellor of the Exchequer Baldwin, numbered 946,023 men killed and 2,121,906 wounded, out of a total of 9,496,370 enrolled in all branches of the military and naval service. Total expenditures of the British government during the war period were more than $45,000,000,000.

Such is the horror of modern warfare! It depletes a nation of the flower of its young manhood. It leaves countless homes in mourning. It impovishes national treasuries and entails vast debts, which will burden future generations. Surely, there is a better, more humane way to settle international differences than by warfare!

MONEY PROMISED FOR POSTOFFICE

Department Wires Jackson To Keep Personnel at Efficiency Pitch

That the barrage of telegrams of protest against the proposed curtailment of the local postoffice staff has blasted the postoffice department at Washington out of its dugout is shown by a wire that was received early this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, in which the department recedes from its position and assures the postmaster of sufficient funds to carry on the work of the Glendale office for the remainder of the present quarter without any cut in the personnel.

The telegram, which was filed at 12.12 this morning, asks for information as to the needs of the Glendale office for the quarter ending June 30, and contains the promise than an effort will be made to keep the office here up to the right pitch of efficiency, both as regards clerks and carriers.

The reduction that had already been made in the force at the Glendale postoffice, when six auxiliary clerks were laid off two days ago, will be remedied as soon as possible, according to Assistant Postmaster George Hallett, who says that several of those who were laid off have already obtained work in other places, and it will require a few days before they can resume their duties at the postoffice.

This detail, however, will be straightened out as rapidly as possible, so that the service locally may be put back on a footing of efficiency, and every effort will be made to maintain this efficiency and also to secure the additional help that the office so sorely needs.

Postmaster Jackson attributes the winning of the first round of the battle with the postoffice department to the support that was given him by the civic organizations of Glendale and also by the business men who took the matter up direct with Washington.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

"The Face Between," featuring Bert Lytell, is the Metro production now showing at the Glendale Theatre. It is a Bayard Vieller production, adapted to the screen from the story by Justus Miles Forman.

The narrative deals with the sacrifice of Tommy Carteret, a New York society man, who to save the reputation of his roue father, becomes an exile in the Blue Ridge mountains.

During his banishment a mountain girl falls in love with him, and despairing of ever returning to the society life into which he was born, he decides to marry her. But she is shot by a jealous rival and he himself is wounded. The resulting complications cannot be told without giving away the dramatic ending.

The T. D. & L.

In "Adam and Eva," adapted to the screen from the famous stage comedy of the same name, now showing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, Marion Davies proves that it is but one dainty step from ginghams to ermines.

The talented star of that great film, "When Knighthood Was in Flower," is now given a vehicle that tests a quite different strain of histrionic ability. In the former story, as Princess Mary Tudor, she presided over an empire of courts and castles. In the latter narrative she rules a domain of beehives and hen roosts.

For these quaint country scenes, a fine old farm near Stamford, Conn., was supplied, with resultant touches of reality and beauty of scene hard to surpass.

ORIGIN OF EVIL TOLD BY HADDEN

Evangelist Takes Series of Evening Topics From Genesis

Dr. Robert A. Hadden gave another address at the Glendale Presbyterian church last evening. His general theme for the evening addresses is "Perplexing Problems in the Genesis Book." Last evening he spoke on "The Problem of Evil." He told clearly and graphically of the origin of evil among the angels long ages before man's creation. Sin began when angels rebelled against the dominion of God and as a result were cast out from his holy presence. This earth was created and lay long in chaos followed by a period of reconstruction. On the earth thus prepared man was created. The serpent Satan came and man succumbed to his wily blandishments.

Though the age-long struggle between Satan and God waxes fiercer and fiercer nevertheless the Lord Christ will ultimately triumph "for he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet."

Dr. Hadden will speak again tonight and his subject will be "The Problem of the Flood." Was the flood justifiable? This is said to be one of the most interesting addresses which Dr. Hadden gives. There will be no services tomorrow, but Dr. Hadden will speak at both morning and evening services on Sunday.

Near freezing temperatures were registered in many parts of the state and a severe blizzard is reported in the Panhandle section where the temperature hovered around 20 degrees. A gale accompanied the drop in temperature and much minor damage was done to business and residential property.

Heavy Loss In Ohio

CLEVELAND, March 16. — A wind which at times reached a velocity of fifty-two miles an hour, accompanied by a driving rain, wrought heavy damage throughout Ohio today. Telephone and telegraph service was badly crippled. Some cities were cut off by wire entirely. The wind razed many structures and early estimates placed the property damage at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Crippled by Storm

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 16.—Wire communications in this region was badly crippled by a heavy windstorm.

One Death Reported

ATLANTA, March 16.—Reports were received here early today of a tornado which struck near Crenshaw and Savage, Miss., last night. John Kerr, a storekeeper at Savage, was reported to have lost his life when the storm demolished his store.

All wires from Atlanta to Crenshaw and Savage are blown down and only meager reports are reaching Red Cross offices here by roundabout routes.

Miss Camille Akers, a field worker for the Red Cross, has been sent from Memphis to the stricken area to investigate and report.

Print Two Bibles for Each Family on Earth

CHICAGO, March 16.—Enough Bibles have been printed in all languages in the world since printing was invented, to provide each of the earth's 300,000,000 families with two copies, according to an estimate made by George C. Buxton, Chicago publisher, made before a meeting of the Subscription Book Publishers' Association.

Since the middle of the fifteenth century, when printing was invented, Buxton said, 660,000,000 Bibles have been printed. Approximately 8,000,000 copies of the Bible are printed in this country and Canada annually, he said.

It has been estimated that 15,800,000 families out of the 23,000,000 in the United States do not have Bibles.

"These figures do not reflect with exactness the religious situation," Buxton said. "The American people are inherently religious."

COUNCIL LEARNS OF DOGS, MULES

Stray Canines to Be Shot, Is Decision Reached by City Authorities

Dogs, mules and, incidentally, chickens were discussed for more than two hours at the meeting of the City Council last night with the result that:

The city's police department was instructed to enforce the ordinance prohibiting dogs from running at large. All dogs caught on the streets will be shot at sunrise or thereabouts.

The mules maintained by Peter L. Ferry, contractor, at 614 East Acacia will be scattered to the four winds—or elsewhere. So will other mules and horses in other sections of the city, provided more than four occupy one lot and provided again the council passes the ordinance it instructed its legal department to draw.

Mixing mules, dogs and chickens proved too much for the council, so it was decided to hold up the hen ordinance until some other night.

Medical men, too, had an inning last night. They came in with the dogs, oratorically, of course.

Appeal For Serum

Dr. G. Kaemmerling, health officer, staged, so Mayor Spencer Robinson said, a wonderful appeal for vaccination for canines.

C. L. Brenkman, whose boy, Roy, age 5, was bitten by a stray dog, appeared before the council and made a strong plea for protection of the public against dogs.

A representative of the state board of health also urged vaccination of canines as a guard against rabies.

Councilman Sam Davis suggested a shotgun squad—for the dogs, of course.

"One shot from a gun is worth two shots of dope for a stray dog," asserted the councilman.

Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson insisted that if a dog was kept confined on its owner's premises it could not, it followed, run at large. And, therefore, it could not bite people.

"A tag will not stop a dog from biting; neither will vaccination," said the councilman. "A man in the penitentiary cannot commit a burglary; a dog kept at home cannot bite people on the streets. I'm for the enforcement of the present ordinance."

And when it came to a vote the council decided to ask the police department to deal out death to all stray dogs.

Not Much Debate

Many people living in the vicinity of Peter Ferry's camp attended the council meeting, but the council, by announcing a regulatory ordinance in preparation, shut off much of the debate, yet several speakers managed to say that they like Mr. Ferry but hate his mules.

Mayor Robinson was about to call upon Mr. Ferry for evidence, but it was decided to get testimony from the mules and the health department was instructed to proceed. However, it's reported at the city hall today that Mr. Ferry will remove the mules from his property and, therefore, no ordinance will be necessary.

In answer to a call from the audience, "How about chickens?" Mayor Robinson announced that the hen ordinance—it deals with roosters, too—would be considered at some other time.

So, as the result of more than two hours' consideration, stray dogs will be shot with bullets, not serum; mules must go, and hens will go on laying eggs.

Other matters came before the council last night, as the official minutes, printed elsewhere in this issue, will show.

SOLONS OUT FOR JUNKETING TRIP

Silence Settles at Capitol as Legislators Leave on Short Recess

Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 16.—The state capitol today has the earmarks of a deserted village, the legislators and many of the attaches having gone to Berkeley to see the University of California and its many attractions.

Tomorrow they will be entertained by Oakland and the Bay district in a royal manner, if the advance notices of the trip are to be believed. It has been a hectic week, one exciting even after another with little in the way of real accomplishment.

When Senator Murphy of San Francisco yesterday introduced a resolution which would withdraw the University's invitation to Admiral Sims to speak before the student body, T. M. West took exception and it was voted down 33 to 5.

Kill Barber Bill

Senator Hurley's barber bill also had the skids placed under it by Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena, who referred to it as a scheme whereby the trade would be limited. He pointed out the fact it woud prohibit women in beauty parlors from bobbing women's and children's hair; that it would require three-year apprenticeships and eliminate the barber schools and colleges, by making their courses extend over a three-year period.

"It does not take three years to learn how to shave a man," said Senator Johnson. "I know of one who learned in less time than that and practiced only once a week, but I must confeses I never was able to cut my own hair."

Sessions will commence again next Monday. In the meantime members of the Fourth Estate are going to take a rest from their efforts of trying to untangle the financial status of the state, the budget being an all-absorbing question for the present.

Mr. Miller and Mrs. Sloan were complimented on the splendid conduct of their pupils during the visit and both stated that the visit to The News plant was the most enjoyable they have taken this year.

In taking their departure Mr. Miller, on behalf of instructors and students, thanked A. T. Cowan, owner and publisher, and Fred Anderson, of the composing room, for the opportunity offered and the time and patience taken in explanation and answering questions.

"Comrade Millington is a high-calibre Legionnaire," asserted Chalmer D. Day, commander of the local post. "His message will be instructive and inspirational to the highest degree."

Platoons from the Tujunga, Eagle Rock, Inglewood and Highland Park posts have heard the bugle and are falling in this afternoon for tonight's muster. Mess will be served under the direction of Lester Marston. He says that it will be "some chow."

SOUTH GAINS IN WAR WITH NORTH

W. E. Evans, at Capital, Expresses Satisfaction At Progress Made

tionment, saying that by 1930 San Francisco and the inland valleys would be more able to hold their own in the matter of population.

S. L. Heisinger of Fresno county echoed this sentiment.

Gain and Loss

In answer to arguments that reapportionment would rob country districts of their balance of power, Assemblyman Baker, author of Bill 739, stated that Los Angeles was the greatest agricultural country in the United States, and that only thirty-two votes of eighty in the assembly would be allocated the three large cities, which are now represented by 30.

His bill would cause a loss of one each in the following assembly districts: Del Mone and Humboldt, Shasta and Lassen, Glenn and Sutter, Sonoma, San Francisco, Calaveras and Inyo, also Monterey and San Luis Obispo. Los Angeles would gain six and San Diego one in the lower house.

In the senate, San Mateo and Monterey, Humboldt and Mendocino, San Francisco, also Santa Clara, would lose one member each, with Los Angeles gaining two, Tulare one and Riverside one.

Pomeroy, in repartee, challenged Van Bernard, former Salvation Army captain, and Dr. Dozier, to a cow-milking contest, boasting his experience on a Burbank farm.

Dozier said he withheld criticism of the southland for its determined fight in human self-interest, which is the mainspring of every human phenomenon.

Bernard, in a closing plea for a new deal by constitutional amendment, pledged his vote for reapportionment when it came to a final showdown of giving the south its constitutional quota, but asked aid in changing the present system.

Evans expressed satisfaction with the results of the hearing, believing it will lead to better understanding.

Assemblyman Weller late yesterday got Glendale's sewer bill favorably repoted out of the municipal corporations committee of the assembly, after an attempt of the power companies to amend the measure had failed. He feels sure of the bill's passage.

Many Aviators Plan Globe Girdling Trip

LONDON, March 16.—No less than seven intrepid airmen are planning around-the-world aeroplane flights this Spring.

Sir Keith Smith, piloting a Napier-engined "Viking" amphibian, is to start eastward from London in April.

Alan Cobham, R. M. McIntosh and Norman MacMillan are all contemplating individual attempts, starting from London.

Four other aspirants are reported to be preparing for flights to start from the United States, France and Spain, and there is a good deal of haste being made to be the first to make the hop-off in order to be the first to register achievement.

Every man likes the feeling of being well-dressed, to his satisfaction. See F. Minden, 322 East East Broadway.—Advertisement. 31xe.o.d.
